

Stand with us against Militarism and War

Women in Black against War is a worldwide network of women committed to justice and opposed to militarism, violence and war. As women experiencing these things in different ways in different regions of the world, we support each other's movements. An important focus is challenging the militarist policies of our own governments. With hundreds of small groups linked by e-mail, WiB is not so much an organisation as a means of communicating and a formula for action.

WiB London has a weekly silent, non-violent vigil in a very public space, 6-7pm every Wednesday. We wear black, carry placards and hand out leaflets. We are seen by many thousands of people, hundreds take our leaflets and many sign petitions and letters. It is a very effective, yet simple action. We also take other forms of action – sit-downs, entering military bases etc. Do come and join us – around the statue of Edith Cavell, St Martins' Place, near Trafalgar Sq. Wednesdays 6.00-7.00.

To learn more about Women in Black or locate a WiB group in your area, please visit the website www.womeninblack.org or email wibinfo@gn.apc.org or write C/o 24 Colvestone Crescent, London E8 2LH. Twitter@WIB_London Hope to see you soon.

Stand with us against Militarism and War

Women in Black against War is a worldwide network of women committed to justice and opposed to militarism, violence and war. As women experiencing these things in different ways in different regions of the world, we support each other's movements. An important focus is challenging the militarist policies of our own governments. With hundreds of small groups linked by e-mail, WiB is not so much an organisation as a means of communicating and a formula for action.

WiB London has a weekly silent, non-violent vigil in a very public space, 6-7pm every Wednesday. We wear black, carry placards and hand out leaflets. We are seen by many thousands of people, hundreds take our leaflets and many sign petitions and letters. It is a very effective, yet simple action. We also take other forms of action – sit-downs, entering military bases etc. Do come and join us – around the statue of Edith Cavell, St Martins' Place, near Trafalgar Sq. Wednesdays 6.00-7.00.

To learn more about Women in Black or locate a WiB group in your area, please visit the website www.womeninblack.org or email wibinfo@gn.apc.org or write C/o 24 Colvestone Crescent, London E8 2LH. Twitter@WIB_London Hope to see you soon.